

BATCH HEADERS DELETION

In the past, users were not able to delete batch headers entered in edit mode zero and one, even after the detailed transaction(s) in the batch were deleted. The new enhancements will now allow users to do so once the detailed transaction(s) in the batch are deleted.

MAIN FACS would like to remind all its users that even if one of the transactions in the batch has posted, batch header can not be deleted.